

FORMERLY KNOWN AS CHILDREN'S EXPRESS

Interview with Jim Knight MP

The Schools Minister tells Headliners that he thinks the expectations placed on pupils are higher than when he was young, but he doesn't think it makes school-life too stressful.

Headliners reporters Nyasha and Crystal were concerned about the increasing number of exams that pupils were being expected to take, and whether this was resulting in too much stress.

As part of their investigation, they interviewed Schools Minister Jim Knight at the Department for Children, Schools and Families in his office in Westminster.

The reporters were Nyasha McLean and Crystal Lenford, both 13.
