

HEADLINERS

More than 1,200 stories and counting

Since Headliners was formed in 1994 we've produced over 1,200 articles and broadcast reports for national and local newspapers, television and radio stations.

We've now got over 950 articles in our online database and you can find them either by following the links on the left or searching the site using the search tool at the top of the page.

Recent videos

Open That DoorHeadliners and disability group Transition Team have produced a short film to highlight disability access problems.

Youth Gangs. What's The Attraction?Four members of Headliners investigate why young people are drawn to gangs in West London

Recent stories...

Body ImagesDoes the media put too much pressure on women to be thin? Sophie Dyer, 16, looks at both the positive and negative messages being sent to young people about body image.

Interview with Tinnie Tempah and BruzaGun crime and certain styles of music have a long collection. Reporters from Headliners wanted to find out whether artists could make a positive difference to tackling the problem.

The same differenceRuth Smyth asks why Nationalist and Unionist traditions can't merge into one.

Podcasts

You can now listen to work produced by Headliners via our new podcasts, which you can download to your iPod or MP3 player.

Listen to Headliners members from London who were involved in a recent radio project with EC1 FM.

What it's like to be young today

A team of four young reporters from Headliners set out to interview their peers to find out what it is really like to grow up in the UK in the 21st century. It was published in Children and Young People Now.

Read the article

Generating Genius

Figures suggest that there are a significant number of black boys underachieving at school. Headliners reporter Ashleigh Rennalls-Griffiths, 15, went to see meet young people on a project that is trying to reverse that trend. Read the interview

From the archives...

Ridings School has been in the news once again, this time following the announcement that it is set to close in 2009. But the troubled school has long been a target for the media; and in 1998 Headliners went to find out what it was like being a pupil at such a school.

